

MIKE HUNT & HERMES

SEX: Male

HEIGHT: 6'1"

WEIGHT: 210 lbs

EYES: Blue

HAIR: Brown

WANTED FOR: Grand Theft, Breaking and Entering, Conspiracy, Racketeering, Desecration, Public Intoxication, Public Indecency

CASE: The Treasure Hunt Amusement Park Heist

INTERVIEW:

Subject was located near an old rail cart having lunch with his dog and agreed to answer a few questions regarding the robbery of the storage locker at The Treasure Hunt Amusement Park.

DETECTIVE: We appreciate your speaking with us today. Did you hear about the storage locker robbery?

HUNT: Oh, lordy, yep. Yes, I sure did. Bad business, bad business there to be sure. Ain't that right, Hermes?

HERMES: <bark!>

DETECTIVE: Do you remember the night in question?

HUNT: Lord, no! Smoked a half-quarter myself that night. Fire bud, too. Da Kine, bra. Was at home, though, I know that. Weren't we, Hermes?

HERMES: <bark!>

DETECTIVE: We know a dog was present from the uh...evidence at the scene...

HUNT: Huh. Do you have a picture?

DETECTIVE: <pauses, then blinks> We do. <shows picture>

HUNT: <cringes> Gross. Huh. Well, I can see why you thought it was my Hermes. Kinda resembles him a little. See there? That corn is his eye, this peanut is his nose...

HERMES: <begins growling and biting Mr. Hunt, who begins struggling, staggering about the area with Hermes stuck to his pant leg>

HUNT: Okay, okay, Hermes, I didn't mean it! It was just for laughs! OW! OOWWW!!

DETECTIVE: <calling in the disturbance> Detective on scene! Dispatch EMS and Fire!

RADIO: Copy, Detective. EMS and Fire. What's going on?

DETECTIVE: Hermes is violently assaulting Mike Hunt! Request assistance!

RADIO: <silence> Say again, Detective?

DETECTIVE: YOU HEARD ME! EMS and Fire! Hurry!

NOTES:

Hunt was taken by ambulance to the hospital, where he was released the following day. A cursory search of the area turned up a leather-bound book*, likely dropped while Hunt was flailing around with Hermes in tow. Hunt has not been seen since the incident and is likely laying low with Hermes until the heat from The Heist dies down.

LEADS:

THE PATHFINDER'S LEDGER

FROM ATOM'S GATE TO THE MOUNTAIN STOP

YOUR JOURNEY BEGINS WHERE THE BOUNDARIES BLUR.

FWM

The Pathfinder's
Ledger:

From Atom's Gate
to the Mountain Stop

location Upstate SC

Oconee County

Jason Moore

The Hoard

Sights to see

Fresh air you seek

Camaraderie(hopefully)

Good for the heart
good for the soul
good for the mind
or so i'm told

Stay away

You're doomed! You're all doomed!

The Pathfinder's Ledger: From Atom's Gate to the Mountain Stop

Your journey begins where the boundaries blur. Cross the thresholds of the old path, from The Mulberry river bridge, to the echo in the dark. Do not fear, do not fret, do not fright, continue forward just keep right until you see the light. As the water falls behind you, look to where the ghosts nap among the stones, your ancestors sleep in the garden shadow of the cleaved Atom.

As the Queen rode Six, Twelve, Eighteen, all the way to Ninety-Six. From field to mountain high peaks and river valley lows, to the fort she must go, for the love in her heart tells her so.

Seek the hall of the fallen heroes, built by the sons of Hamburg. It's 4 and 40 you seek, move onward now towards the sacred hollow place.

Do not linger in their paradise. Move through the heart of the settlement until the path demands a choice. Look for the signposts pointing the way toward the rushing waters, the great river of the border, and the unfinished mountain tracks. Good luck, as you test your might, don't take it for granite, this phantom grade. Execute a final right turn, and begin your ascent into the dark woods.

"Excuse me sir, that'll be $5."

Wait what, who's there, who are you? Where am I?

"Sir that'll be $5 or you can leave before I call the cops."

Here take it this is all I have.

Follow the ghostly tracks of this Blue Ridge, where the sons of Erin tore open the mountain but never saw the light on the other side.

Follow the views but don't fall it's a long way down, so be sure of foot, and keep a steady grip.

Take a break if need be, you needn't be in any hurry, leaving the world behind is the point this time.

She didn't take the leap, her love the oath she promised to keep, a house built on deep roots, as long as you can navigate this keep.

Bring a bike enjoy the ride if you're the adventurous type, so many things to do and see, just remember the memories are the treasures share them with the company you keep, and keep them secrets close and keep them safe.

Nothing will matter more on that one final day before it's all over and you'll wish you had just one more...

Good day my friends. Sending love and light your way.